SUPERSTITION OR BUSINESS? Bartender Calls People Into His Saloon When ever a Fuseral Procession Goes By.

A peculiar custom prevails at a country roadhouse on the upper end of Westchester avenue, near St. Raymond's Cemetery. When a funeral cortege goes by on its way to the cemetery the bartenders by on its way to the cometry the bartender comes out on the stoop, where there are always several patrons getting the fresh air, and tells them to step inside the saloon until the procession has passed. Then they all go to the saloon, and the bartender pulls down the curtains at the windows.

Some people think this is a mark of respect to the dead, but others think it is a scheme of the bartender to do business.

UNITED STATES CONSULATE. BANTIAGO DE CUBA, Dec. 13th, 1897.

BOSTON, U. S. A. Gentlemen; Whatever is the cash value of the difference between living on earth, and a place said to be much hotter than Cuba, I am indebted to the use of your CUTICURA

BOAF and CUTICURA (cintment). Ecrema is a prevalent disease on this island. E had an attack of it, and ordered a box of swids of zinc ointment. The first application changed the Eczema to hell-fire, which seemed changed the Ecsema to hell-fire, which seemed unquenchable. The druggist had used a raucid cerats and I was poisoned.

I have practised medicine over thirty years and taken a special course in cutaneous discasses under Fret. John V. Shumaker of Phil., but I lost faith in the purity of Cuban drugs, as everything either failed to help my trouble or made it worse. I called in a local physician, but he did not help matters, and I was becoming desperate, when I thought of Curicuma Booming desperate, when I thought of Curicuma for a cake of Curicuma Boar and a box of Curicuma (cintunet). The first application velices of me and in three days I was well.
